Early Career Group Study Day 2025

We're looking back on a fantastic Study Day hosted by our Early Career Group!

Held at the iconic Royal College of Surgeons of England, our early career dentists enjoyed a series of insightful lectures designed to cover a breadth of topics in the Endo Meets Resto Symposium followed by an 'ask the expert' panel. Meanwhile our postgraduate students focused on case discussions and prepared for their Royal Colleges Membership Examinations with practice viva runs.

Booking now open for Regional Meeting!

The Belfry Hotel & Resort | Friday 21 – Saturday 22 November 2025

This year's Regional Meeting will be held at The Belfry Hotel, Birmingham, offering attendees the perfect opportunity to learn whilst enjoying the venue's incredible golfing and spa facilities.

The conference will begin with a range of table clinics presented by Dr Julian Webber, Dr Kreena Patel, Dr Roberto Careddu, and Dr Marcela Salamanca Ramos. These small group sessions offer a unique opportunity for close intellectual contact with speakers and the chance to ask burning questions.

Beginning on Friday afternoon, delegates will enjoy lectures from a range of leading experts: Professor Ken Hargreaves, Professor Stéphane Simon, Dr Nestor Tzimpoulas, and Dr Guillaume Jouanny.

Don't miss out! Book your place today by visiting the BES website.

BES Drinks Reception at ESE, Paris

Hilton Paris La Défense | Friday 5th September | 6:30pm – 8pm

Are you attending the ESE Congress in Paris this year? If so, you're invited to our Drinks Reception, hosted by Dr Phil Tomson!

Open to all BES members, we look forward to seeing you there.

Members wishing to attend should email Suzanne
(suzanne@britishendodonticsociety.org.uk) in advance.

ESE Congress 2025

Dr Elliott Mason – Mark Hunter Early Career Prize in Endodontology

I was delighted to be awarded the prize! The money enabled me to purchase further camera equipment to better capture my clinical portfolio. It also gave me the opportunity to attend the BES Spring Scientific Meeting, where I had the pleasure of meeting and speaking to esteemed endodontists and like-minded individuals. Professionally, this has encouraged me to undergo further postgraduate training in endodontics and try to hone my endodontic skillset and become a DwSI.

I would recommend everyone to enter for a BES prize, to support their own reflective learning and witness how the BES supports its junior clinicians. I would advise anyone thinking of entering to try not to worry about showing perfect cases. See it as an opportunity to show humility and reflect on areas you could improve.

Dr Elliott Mason – 2024 Prize Winner

2024 winner of the Mark Hunter Early Career Prize in Endodontology, Elliott Mason, shares his experience of receiving the award and his advice for those who are considering entering this year.

Entries for the prize must be submitted by 1st October – visit the website for more details.

Dr Olivia Roscoe – Undergraduate Research Prize

I was really excited to win the award. I am very new to research, and endo is an area that I am interested in. I find both the practical and academic sides of it enjoyable. Because of this, I was super happy and honestly quite surprised to win the prize as it was my first time entering for something like this. It was exciting for my supervisor and for my school as well.

Professionally, winning this award gave me a lot more confidence. I would definitely encourage other people to enter for this award. As an undergrad, it's nice to take the opportunity to enter your work into competitions that you might win, because you won't win it if you don't enter!

Vital Pulp Therapy Masterclass

Reflecting on the inaugural BES ECG Masterclass

By popular demand, the Early Career Group hosted its inaugural Vital Pulp Therapy Masterclass run by Dr Daniel Vaz de Souza and Dr Dipti Mehta. The participants enjoyed a discussion around the rationale, decision-making and clinical applications of VPT followed by a hands-on session. This milestone event showcased the progression of the ECG through the support and feedback of BES members.
